

NAME: Willow

GENDER: Female

DOB: November 27, 2022

This little beauty is Willow and she will steal your heart! Willow was rescued in West Virginia when she was found outside, and no owner could be located. Her coat was oily and matted from living outside and she was happy to be taken in and given food and shelter. Her foster used a dry shampoo, brushed her thoroughly, and started her on a nutritious diet and her fur is soft and clean now.

As an older kitten, Willow is very playful and will try to engage the other cats in her foster room in play. The younger kittens happily oblige but some of the uppity older girls will tell her to back off, which she does. When she wants quiet time, she will find an empty cat bed and nap. In foster Willow liked being with her person and would lie on their chest or lap to be near them and get pets.

Because she is young and very social with both cats and people, Willow should probably have another cat in her house for company if the humans are going to be gone for most of the day because she is very social and needs engagement throughout the day with her humans and other resident animals. She would do great in a family with school-aged children and a lot of activity. She doesn't seem to mind her foster's large breed dog but could probably do without him too, as his barks are a little scary and disruptive.

Willow has a good appetite and litter box manners. She has been eating Fancy Feast classic pate and Purina One Indoor Advantage kibble. She has been spayed, vaccinated against rabies and distemper, microchipped, and tested for FeLV and FIV with negative results.
