

NAME: Corey

GENDER: Male

DATE OF BIRTH: December 22, 2019

Corey came to 4Paws when he was put outside, unneutered, by an owner who didn't want him anymore. Fortunately for Corey a kind, sympathetic neighbor who was aware of the situation started feeding him and contacted 4Paws. He was taken into foster care where he was given proper medical care and his temperament assessed. He likes people and has been living with multiple cats, so 4Paws decided to bring him to Meows Corner.

Corey is a big gray tabby boy with expressive light green eyes. He is an independent kitty who needs a stable, quiet home with an experienced cat owner. Corey does not like some male cats, but he gets along with friendly female kitties. Corey would be fine as an only cat as well. His caretaker will need to be patient and work to gain his trust. Corey can get overstimulated so his human will need to be mindful of the signs, such as tail twitching. Currently in foster care he is sharing a space with many cats and his foster Mom thinks that in a quiet home with fewer kitties he will flourish.

Corey loves his meals and gets impatient if he is not fed on time! His favorite place is to sleep in a cat bed on a windowsill where he can get a sun bath and keep an eye on the birds. Corey has been neutered, microchipped, tested negative for FeLV, and vaccinated. He has been eating Fancy Feast Classic Pate and Blue Buffalo Sensitive Stomach dry food.

Cory tested positive for FIV, Feline Immunodeficiency Virus. FIV+ cats can live long, healthy lives and can share their homes with cats without FIV. Please ask Meows Corner staff for details, or visit <https://www.fivcatrescue.org/fiv-what-is-fiv/>

Liking pets from his rescuer's daughter
