Background: Milo was found by a good Samaritan when he was crying out from under a tree during a thunderstorm earlier this year. The rescuer already had a cat that wasn't fond of other kitties, but he knew Milo needed help, so he brought him inside to safety and used a spare bedroom for him. He knew he couldn't keep Milo but wanted to minimize the financial impact to whomever took Milo, so he got him vaccinated and tested for FIV and FeLV. He did let Milo run around the house as Milo got more comfortable in the house and the "old lady" cat even tolerated his antics. But the rescuer decided the time had come for Milo to move on to a family that could keep him forever.

Medical or special care notes: Milo has had his vaccinations, is microchipped, and has been neutered. He has tested negative for FeLV and FIV.
