Purrsonality: Echo and Mascarpone are serious about their play and have no fear. They are curious about newcomers and don't have a sense of boundaries and insist on walking up to new cats to greet them. They are both loving and very cuddly, and will often walk up and climb in people's laps.

Children? Echo and Mascarpone would do well with children of all ages.

Other cats? Echo and Mascarpone are bonded and need to be adopted together. They would also do well with other cats.

Dogs? Echo and Mascarpone previously lived with dogs, and should do well with friendly, calm dogs after proper integration protocols.

Background: Echo and Mascarpone were rescued in Martinsburg, West Virginia with their sister. The three tiny kittens were found huddling to keep warm under a camper in someone's yard early one morning. The couple brought them inside to warm up and give them a treat of tuna. They turned them over to rescue and 4Paws took them for Meows Corner. The brothers were adopted two years ago, but were returned recently when their family could no longer keep them.

Medical or special care notes: Echo and Mascarpone have tested negative for FeLV and FIV and have been microchipped. They have had rabies and distemper vaccines and have been neutered. They are eating Fancy Feast classic pate and Purina One Indoor Advantage turkey kibble.
