

NAME: Lottie

GENDER: Female

DATE OF BIRTH: February 27, 2021

FUR LENGTH: Short

COLOR: Black tuxedo

Purrsonality: Lottie is a reserved, judgmental girl who prefers to spend her days being offended by little things that don't matter. If she were a person, she would be wearing a light purple hat with flowers, carrying a matching handbag in the crook of her elbow, and wearing a very sensible flowered dress. She is initially shy with people but if you are gentle with her, she will come around and is quite the rubby-lovey girl once she knows you.

Children? Lottie would do OK with older kids that aren't noisy and can be respectful.

Other cats? Lottie can live on her own or with another neutral or friendly kitty.

Dogs? Lottie has not been tested with dogs.

Background: Lottie was dropped off at a rescuer's house when she was out running errands, so we don't know a lot about her history. She has obviously been well-fed and her fur is gorgeously thick, so we assess she was an indoor cat whose owner could not care for her anymore, but that wanted to make sure she went somewhere safe where she could find a good home.

Medical or special care notes: Lottie has had vaccinations for rabies and distemper, is microchipped, and has been altered. She has tested negative for FIV and FeLV. She is eating Fancy Feast classic pate and Purina One kibble.
